

Launch Movement for Re-election of President Wilson for a Third Term

AUSTRIANS DEEPLY AFFECTED BY THEIR ENORMOUS LOSSES

Rome, June 19.—Both Austrian officers and men captured are profoundly affected by their enormous losses and their failure to attain a single objective. The enemy's casualties have been tremendous. The twenty-seventh and thirty-second enemy divisions, withdrawn from the Mount Grappa region were reduced to a few thousands.

On the Montello crest the thirty-first division lost a thousand men. The Italian assault group penetrated the enemy lines and captured Major Gen. Von Kronstatt, a division commander who died in a hospital. The 106th Hungarian infantry regiment was entirely wiped out. The fourteenth enemy division, operating in the Candelo sector suffered frightful losses.

London, June 19.—Allied forces still retain the initiative in the mountain area of the Italian front while the Austrians continue their principal efforts at both extremes of the Piave river line, it was indicated in last night's official statements. The Italians also maintain an advantage at certain points along the river.

While the greatest strategic danger to the Italians lay in the assault on their mountain defenses as a major Austrian success there would compel withdrawal of the armies along the Piave and probable evacuation of Venice and Treviso, the combined French and Italian forces have stopped the enemy in their tracks.

The Austrians, therefore have shifted their efforts to acquisition of Il-montello, the crest guarding the northern end of the Piave line, and to the marsh land along the lower Piave. In both these areas the Austrians, who are employing close to a million men in the drive, have registered their greatest gains. They have advanced a maximum distance of three miles over Il-montello, occupying the two-thirds of the highlands. On a 15 mile front between Fossalta, and the sea they have penetrated four miles, reaching the Fossalta canal at a point about midway between the Piave and Sille rivers.

Allied troops in the mountain region occupied Raza, Pizzo, the heights southeast of Sasso and the spur of Costalunga, taking several hundred prisoners.

Along the Piave attacks and counter-attacks constantly alternated. The latest Austrian claim is of thirty thousand prisoners and 120 guns. Both Emperor Karl of Austria and Premier Orlando of Italy are at the front.

The French war office last night reported artillery activity northwest on Montidier, on the Amiens front, and between Montidier and the Aisne.

HUNS FAIL IN DESPERATE TRY TO TAKE RHEIMS

Paris, June 19.—A desperate German attempt to take Rheims, at any price last night was completely blocked by the defenders, the French war office announced today.

The assault was made on a 15 mile front, between Vignay and Fort La Pompelle, forming a complete half circle about the city on the North front, east to west. Thirtysix thousand Germans participated in the repeated attacks.

"Yesterday at 6 p. m. the Germans launched a violent artillery bombardment on the whole Rheims front, from Vignay to eastward of Fort La Pompelle," the communique said.

(Vignay is 5 miles west and slightly south of Rheims. Fort La Pompelle is in a corresponding position to the eastward.)

"German infantry attacked the French positions between these two points. The French resisted the enemy assaults with full success."

"Between Vignay and Ormes (two miles east of Vignay), the Germans were stopped by the French fire and hurled back several times upon their lines of departure. They were unable to reach the French lines at any time."

"In the vicinity of Rheims, there was violent fighting, with heavy enemy losses. The Germans were repulsed everywhere there."

"To the eastward of Rheims the fighting resulted to the advantage of the French. The Germans who penetrated the wood northwest of Sillery (two miles south of Fort La Pompelle) pushed back by a French

DARING CAPTURE OF PRISONERS IS PULLED OFF

With the Americans on the Marne, June 19.—One Franco-American unit on this front, under American command, faces the well known tenth landwehr regiment, it was established in a daring patrol raid by American Marines.

A captain and seven men crept down to the water's edge near the town of Charvres (seven miles east of Chateau-Thierry on the south bank of the Marne, and directly opposite Jaulgonne).

In the darkness they crossed to the opposite side in a boat. As they piled out on the bank they encountered a couple of sentries who fled without offering resistance, although the patrol's only weapons were the captain's pistol and the men's knives.

The Americans rushed into the town and found five Germans asleep in a cellar. They dragged the Germans out and rushed them to the boat. The boats were rowed across. In the meantime, the alarm had spread and the Germans sent up rockets. A number of Huns fired at the boat as it was pulled for the American side.

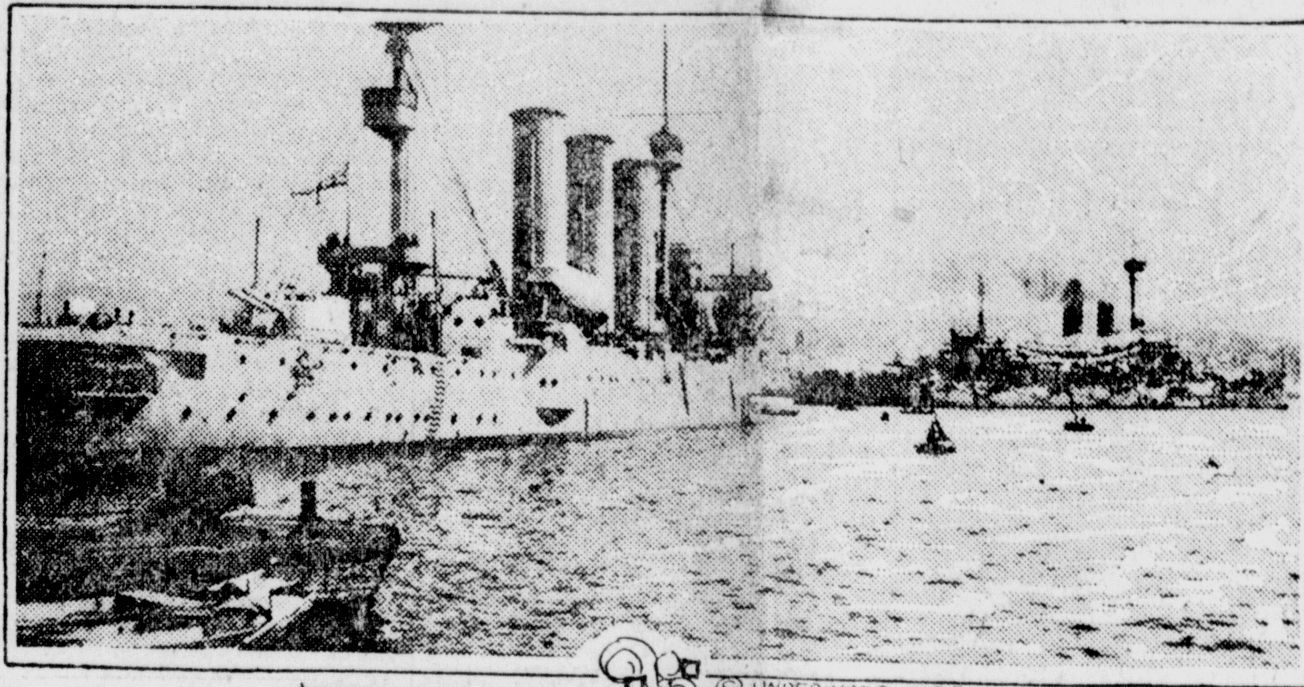

Despite this fire, which increased as more Germans rushed down to the shore the boat put back for the two remaining prisoners and the two Americans guarding them. After the prisoners and their captors had jumped in, the boat started for the American side again. As it neared the shore, it struck some submerged object and capsized. All of the occupants were rescued.

There were dozens of volunteers for this venture. Those who were chosen swore solemnly that they would not be captured.

REAL CO-OPERATION
Austin, Tex., June 19.—Texas businessmen closed up shop and pitched in to help farmers through Houston and Warsaw counties to harvest their potato crop when the yield was threatened by farm labor shortage.

WOMEN GOING MAD ALSO
Washington, June 19.—Women in Moscow are going mad and committing suicide because of their inability to stand the severe mental and physical strain, according to word received here today from a Y. M. C. A. worker. Food is getting scarcer and women looking older and more pinched because of the hardships they have to endure.

JAPANESE BATTLESHIP LANDS MARINES IN RUSSIA; FORMER RUSSIAN SHIP, NOW JAPANESE, VISITS HOME

BRAZIL BUYS MUCH SHIPPING

Buenos Aires, June 19.—The Lloyd Brazilian Steamship Co. has established another new line of boats between Buenos Aires and Belém, Brazil, with callings at Montevideo, Rio Grande, Santos, Bahia, Maceio, Recife (Pernambuco) and Ceara.

This new service was inaugurated by the steamship Rio Janeiro, which sailed from this port recently with passengers, mail and cargo.

In a short time thereafter other boats were placed on this run. It is believed that the new enterprise has been well planned and that its success is assured. The greater part of the ships which once carried the traffic between these ports belonged to European companies and have since the war been placed on trans-Atlantic routes.

The Lloyd Brazilian Company already has established several lines between Buenos Aires, Montevideo and Chile. This company, instead of liquidating its boats at the high prices brought about by the war, has bought all the available tonnage in South American waters for the purpose of enlarging its formerly small fleet.

Since the war began Argentina has been selling off her boats until today she is practically without the semblance of a merchant marine. Brazil, on the other hand, has been buying boats as fast as Argentina sold them and now possesses several regular lines of steamers with sailings between the principal Argentine and Brazilian ports.

The sailing of an Argentine boat from Buenos Aires has become an uncommon sight. The few ships that remain under the Argentine flag are destined at an early date to be sold to foreign countries. Brazilian companies have taken advantage of Argentine's inclination to realize immediate, large profits from the sale of her boats, and has acquired ships of every class.

Argentina is today at a great disadvantage and entirely unable to compete with Brazil in shipping. It will be many years before she is able to overcome the lead in shipping which Brazil has acquired so rapidly.

HINDY IS DIPPY.

Geneva, June 19.—The Tribune says it learns from a reliable source that Field Marshall von Hindenburg is suffering from an acute nervous disease; that his mental capacity is much affected and that he is confined in a private sanatorium. The newspaper adds that Hindenburg took no responsible part in the recent offensive on the western front, the work being done chiefly by General Ludendorff.

GOVERNOR'S INFANT SON PASSES AWAY

Columbus, O., June 19.—Thomas Blair Cox, infant son of Governor and Mrs. James Cox, died at the family residence in Dayton last night. The child was born Sunday. Governor Cox left for his home in Dayton yesterday afternoon and cancelled addresses which he was to have given today at the Columbus public school graduation exercises and Thursday at the Ohio State University.

STOCK FARM ON THE ATLANTIC OCEAN; IT'S PRIDE OF BATTLESHIP'S CREW

NIGHT FLIGHT MADE OVER SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, June 19.—With the exhaust of his motor audible for miles and himself and his airplane invisible in the darkness, an aviator passed over Springfield about ten o'clock, on Tuesday night, on his way to Wilbur Wright Field.

So far as known this is the first night flight made in this part of the country.

The airplane was damaged in alighting north of the city Tuesday afternoon. A detail of repair men from Wilbur Wright Field came up later in the afternoon with repairs, but it was not until ten o'clock that the machine was again ready for service.

When the repairs had been completed the pilot started for home. The roar of his motor brought many persons from their homes to peer into the sky in a vain attempt to see the aerial visitor. It gave one a thrill and made him think of the air raids upon the cities in Europe.

HOARDED FOOD WILL BE SOLD AT PUBLIC SALE

Washington, D. C., June 19.—The hearing on the petition for a libel asking for the condemnation of the food products found at the residence of Dr. Francis S. Nash, medical director of the navy, who was fined $1,000 by Justice Stafford for food hoarding, will probably take place before Justice Stafford today.

After granting the petition a date will be set for the public sale of the goods, the proceeds to go to the government.

Prescott Gatley, counsel for Dr. Nash, will interpose no objection to the granting of the libel and thus will facilitate the final disposition of the case, which attracted widespread attention by reason of the high official and social standing of Dr. and Mrs. Nash. The seriousness of the offense and the very outcome of the present struggle were called to the attention of the court by Clarence E. Wilson, food administrator for the district, who said: "If 100,000 people in the United States had followed the example of Dr. Nash and hoarded food in the same proportion, the very outcome of this war would be placed in the gravest jeopardy."

MAKING DEMOCRACY SAFE FOR THE WORLD

Buffalo, N. Y., June 19.—"Making Democracy Safe for the World" is the keynote of the International Sunday School Association convention, which opened here today with a large delegation from Ohio in attendance. Sessions will be continued six days.

Ohio delegates include Dr. Henry H. Meyer and E. W. Thornton, Cincinnati; F. W. Ramsey, John E. Morris and W. E. Myers, Cleveland; Mrs. Georgia Lee Young and C. W. Shinn, Toledo; Arthur T. Arnold, Columbus, general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School Association; John D. Aiken, Bellefontaine, and E. L. Young, Norwalk.

The international convention, in the absence of the world's convention, which was called off on account of the war, is the largest Sunday School meeting held anywhere in the world this year.

DECLARATION OF DEMOCRATS MADE AT STATE CONVENTION

Indianapolis, June 19.—The movement for re-election of Woodrow Wilson as president of the United States in 1920 was launched at the Indiana democratic convention today.

The first speaker to declare for the re-election of Wilson was Samuel A. Ralston, former governor of Indiana and permanent chairman of the convention. After stating he would not stand for a precedent that would interfere with efficiency in carrying on the war or that would deny the country of the services of the best ability in the construction period to follow the war, Ralston said:

"I maintain that the exigencies of the times call for the renomination and election of Woodrow Wilson."

Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall temporary chairman of the convention and the platform adopted, called upon the people of the nation to stand by the President, and highly praised his administration.

The platform, in speaking of coming elections said:

"The future presents the supreme test of American statesmanship, and we submit the people can best trust the wisdom of President Wilson and those who stand with him, who have shared with him the unparalleled accomplishments of the last six years. Therefore we commend to the serious consideration of the people the election of senators and congressmen in complete harmony with the president, primarily on policies of the war, but equally in accord with him on questions of vital domestic concern."

The war plank of the platform, which was drafted under the direction of President Wilson declared:

"The immediate purpose of the Democratic party, the purpose which takes precedence over every other is to win the war. The fate of true democracy everywhere depends upon its being won. Its object is to aid the world once for all of the threat violence and injustice which must hang over it so long as there is anywhere an autocratic government which can disturb its peace and dominate its fortunes. The outrages against right which Germany has committed have directly touched our own citizens and our own liberties and Germany must be brought to terms by such a victory as will leave no doubt in the minds of her rulers and her people as to which forces control mankind. We entered upon the present course in self defense to resist a menacing assault, directed against our freedom and our national integrity, we shall not abandon it until our objective is definitely obtained."

Continuing the platform said:

"Because we mean to win the war, it is our purpose to support and sustain to the utmost the administration of Woodrow Wilson. His administration can better be supported by those who believe in it and trust in it than by those who are constantly eager to make a selfish use of what they conceive to be its mistakes."

"Problems following the war will wear a new aspect and significance," declared another plank. "They will have to be approached without regard to old party formulas and words, in full recognition of the fact that they are new and must be dealt with in a new way."

To prepare for the reconstruction period, full development as possible of vocational training is urged with particular attention being given to rehabilitation of those injured in the war.

"The whole industry of the country must be dealt with in the most liberal and enlightened manner," the platform continues. "Raw material and all universal essentials like coal, and electric power must be made accessible to all upon equal and equitable terms. Waste lands must be reclaimed."

Planks declare for the following: Control of railway transportation in such a way as to assure complete co-ordination, adequate development and the equal service of the railways in every field of activity.

A budget system for the federal government. Raising the level of labor conditions and greater provisions made for avoidance in the future of conflicts between capital and labor, endorsement of the "matchless" naval administration of Josephus Daniels, who democratized the navy, scourged from department profiteers and produced a degree of efficiency never before equaled by American fighters on the sea."

Endorsed the work and achievements of Newton D. Baker and denounced the sinister and systematic propaganda of falsehood calculated to undermine the effectiveness of the army, to deprive him of the confidence of the people and to embarrass him in meeting heavy responsibilities. Recognition is made of the fact that the health of the men in military service is of a higher standard than any other military enterprise upon which the United States has been engaged, especially striking by contrast with the record of the war with Spain.

VIOLATOR OF THE FOOD LAW FINED

Columbus, June 19.—For alleged taking of excess profit on flour and selling flour in excessive quantities, the New Pittsburgh Coal company and Stratton Brothers of Murray City, operators of grocery stores near their mines, were fined $40 and $100 respectively by food administrator Croxton. The money goes to the Red Cross.

SITUATION IN ITALY FAVORABLE

London, Jan. 19.—The Italian situation is more favorable than it was yesterday, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

The danger in the Montello sector is greatly lessened.

Between the Brenta and the Astico Rivers, Austrian gains were again reduced.

Three Austrian attacks were repulsed between the Brenta and the Piave.

MAY PROVE TO BE AN ACT OF WAR

Washington, June 19.—What may prove to be an act of war against the United States occurred at Rtrtribiz, Persia, when the Turks took that town occupying the American and British consulates and attacking the American hospital according to reports reaching the American minister at Teheran.

IMPORTATION OF RUBBER ARTICLES PROHIBITED

Washington, June 19.—Importation of manufactured rubber articles is prohibited after June 25, the War Trade board announced today.

MRS. ADOLPHUS BUSCH HELD UNDER GUARD

Key West, Fla., June 19.—Mrs. Adolphus Busch, widow of the late millionaire brewer of St. Louis, and her companion, Mrs. Hans Baumann, accompanied by a Swiss nurse are now quartered in a local hotel here under a guard.

They were permitted by the Federal authorities to leave the steamer Mastocette last night.

The Busch party is being held awaiting word from the authorities at Washington. Orders have been issued that no communication should be permitted to pass between the two women.

AUTHORITY TO RAISE RATES IS NOT GIVEN

Columbus, June 19.—Utilities commission will not grant Ohio electric roads blanket authority to increase freight and passenger rates. All cases will be taken on their merits, commissioners say.

POLICE CHIEFS MEET

Columbus, June 19.—Co-operation with federal authorities in the suppression of crimes against the government was discussed by the Ohio Association of Police Chiefs, who met here today.

The visitors inspected the penitentiary this morning.

ANAEMIA AND POOR BLOOD

How Mrs. Burnell's Daughter Recovered

Drewsville, N. H. —"My daughter was anaemic, had poor blood and suffered from indigestion and bilious attacks. As Vinol had built up my son some time ago, I gave it to my daughter—she soon improved in health, and it has built her up and restored her health."—Mrs. N. Burnell.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Miss Burnell's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich red blood and create strength. Sayre & Hemphill, and Druggists everywhere.

PERSHING CHOOSES FIRST ARMY HEAD

Brig. Gen. B. S. Foulis.

Brig. Gen. Benjamin S. Loulis, formerly chief of the air service of the American expeditionary forces, has been detached from that post and appointed by General Pershing as head of the air service of the "First Army." He will now be in active command of the aviators at the front. Colonel Robert N. Padlock will have Foulis' former post.

ANOTHER HOT WAVE IS COMING.

The drop in temperature yesterday and last night came as a relief to Xenia residents. However, the weather man says another hot wave is on its way and will reach here some time tomorrow.

GIRLS BACK HOME ARE PALS' BONDS

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR
With the American Expeditionary Forces at the front, May 27. (By Mail)—The girls they left back home form a powerful bond of sympathy among the fighters over here. A pretty illustration came out in a visit yesterday with a medical officer of a regiment on repose.

The medical officer is a captain, his assistant a second lieutenant, and they have a private orderly. The three were living in a single room of an old dilapidated French house, inhabited by a French family, despite the proximity of the front lines.

On the walls were French lithographs, mostly religious. One showed friends and relatives gathered around the cradle of a new-born child of Lorraine. Underneath was the inscription, "He shall be French." A goodly number of old-style portraits were hanging over the bright colored wall paper. On the mantelpiece was a complicated clock in a glass case, the luxury of the family, probably.

With the clock on the mantelpiece were the folding photographic portraits of three lovable and wholesome looking American girls. Regardless of the ranks of their lovers, these three girls are entitled to equal positions on any mantelpiece their men find in France.

Since correspondents were visitors, these three men had maintained military formality in their conversation before us. Someone called attention to the three girls' pictures. Formality vanished. "We couldn't get along without them," said the second lieutenant.

"I never got acquainted with Bob and Joe until I found they were in love with girls back there," said the captain. "We became chums instead of fellow workers. It's a mighty strong bond, those girls on the mantelpiece."

"These fellows think they've got it on me because they're married, and I'm only engaged," added the private. "But they've got no better girl than I. There's going to be a big time when I get to the old town. The Cap's going to come up-state and be best man, and the Lieutenant's slated for next best, and their wives there are going to be bridesmaids. Believe me, it's going to be some wedding. O boy!"

Twenty Years Ago Today

President McKinley will not be surprised today to hear that the troops have arrived at Santiago. The insurgents are ready to co-operate with them at any time. Cervera and Pando will be held accountable for the safety of Hobson and his men. It is announced.

The Florence Hotel was sold at assignee's sale today at the front door of the court house, for $11,000, the purchaser being Mr. S. T. Baker.

Mr. O. W. McDonald has received word that he has been selected as one of the judges at the state racing meet of the L. A. W., to be held in Cleveland, July 2-4.

Mr. Ed Lutz and wife, of Vernon, Texas, arrived here from their eastern trip, yesterday, and will visit with friends and relatives for a week or so. Ed looks as natural as ever and hardly a day older.

The S. of V. Band of this city has been engaged to go to South Charleston on July 4, and furnish the music for a rousing jollification to be held there that day. The band was in great demand this year.

Wilmington is soon to have a steel tower one hundred and fifty feet high, from the top of which in day time the Stars and Stripes will be unfurled, and at night a myriad of electric lights will burn in all possible brilliancy. The tower will be the gift of a citizen, A. J. Wilson. At the base of the tower will be a stand for band serenades or public speakers.

The Wilmington Journal notes that an eastern buyer has just purchased a flock of 2,000 sheep in Clinton county, paying therefor at the rate of four cents a pound. The sheep averaged 125 pounds and thus brought $5 per head, or $10,000 for the flock. The Journal remarks that this is like the old times before we heard of Grover Cleveland and the Wilson bill.

MOTOR AIDS

Among the satisfying luxuries of summer trips is the new thermos bottle, which has the advantage of being unbreakable. Then there is the gasoline lantern, which will be very useful after dark, and for a camper who wishes to camp with comfort, there is a grate with a galvanized iron screen on three sides for greater protection from wind and steadiness. Most self-starting systems have a fuse box installed at an accessible point. The purchaser of a new car should acquaint himself with the location of this as quickly as possible. Very often considerable trouble can be eliminated by replacing a burned out fuse by a new one. This is a simple matter, but, if not known, may cause a lot of trouble and unnecessary expense.

When the brakes do not hold, it is usually because the surface of the bands has become hard and smooth. Clean them with a thin brush and kerosene. Rinse with gasoline and allow them to dry. Then spread on the lubricating oil, being sure every spot is well covered. This will raise the fiber, soften the material and the brakes will at once become effective. This should be done at night, for it will be dangerous to attempt to use the car until the oil has had a chance to do its work.

THEATERS

You who have followed the tragic story of the De Saull'es case when it was dragged through the courts of New York will be doubly interested in the picturization of the tale, which appears at the Bijou theater Wednesday and Thursday, matinee and night.

"Woman and the Law," the picture produced by William Fox, and featuring Miriam Cooper is a daring disclosure of this famous case, being based on the tragic story itself. It depicts the emotions that must have been felt by the principal characters in the domestic tragedy. There is much of enthralling interest in the play.

ORPHIUM.

Sweet Kitty Gordon, who has made many very charming pictures since her conversion to the screen from the legitimate stage, but has done nothing of such enthralling interest as "The Divine Sacrifice," which is produced under World direction and which will be shown at the Orphium Theater, Thursday night.

There is a wonderful story depicted in this production, the story being by Alma Speer Benzing.

Are wives human? Are women but the scum of man to be scraped off on the edge of man's unfaithfulness? You have a slight veneer of civilization gleaned through the ages of man—BUT—If the man you married and to whom you were all that loving, faithful wife could be, and he in turn subjected you to every humiliation every insult his mind could conceive and then when the courts had given you back your name, your freedom and the right to look the whole world in the face. HE TRIED TO STEAL YOUR BABY, would the veneer of civilization stand the strain?

Based on the famous DeSaull'es case, tells in vivid, burning dramatic moments the wonderful, gripping, heart pulling story of the most interesting domestic tragedy America has ever known.

AN INTER-COUNTY QUOIT TOURNAMENT

The Quoit tournament at the annual county fair in August which was started by the fair board last year will this year be extended by action of the Board to take in any county. A prize of $25 will be offered to the team winning the tournament and it is expected that a number of organizations will be represented.

The Xenia Quoit club is starting out the season with a showing that promises that it will land near the top in the tournament this year. The local club defeated Jamestown at Jamestown last Friday, taking 10 out of 12 games. This makes a total of 21 games for Xenia as against 3 for Jamestown in the series between these two clubs so far. The Jamestown club hopes to make a better showing here next Friday evening at 7 o'clock when eight men from each club who have never been in a contest, will be matched against each other. The public is invited to attend these games.

WILBERFORCE TRUSTEES CONSIDER MATTER OF OPENING TRAINING SCHOOL

Wednesday morning at ten o'clock the board of trustees of the C. N. and I. department convened and was presided over by Dr. W. A. Galloway. The members present were Rev. Clarence Gardner of Springfield, Mr. E. C. Berry, of Athens, Mr. George Hays of Cincinnati, Judge William Beacom and Rev. Charles Bundy of Cleveland, Bishop J. H. Jones and Pres. W. S. Scarborough of Wilberforce. The meeting is called to consider the proposition recently made by the War Department at Washington, D. C., to open a training school for soldiers. Mr. Phillip B. Woodworth who has charge of the Emergency War Training work, will be present and make the necessary arrangements to close the contract. It is generally understood that the contract will be made, not less than two hundred men will arrive on or before the 15th of July.

Miss Leona Carrington, teacher of the kindergarten work of the Normal department, with a number of children gave a very interesting play this afternoon, entitled "The Babes in the Woods." Miss Carrington is a graduate of a school in Baltimore and during her connection with the primary work has distinguished herself as a primary teacher.

Rev. Charles Bundy was re-elected by the trustee board of the university to represent it on the C. N. and I. board of trustees.

Considerable interest is manifested in the election of a new vice-president of the University to succeed Chaplain T. G. Steward. The names of Dr. G. W. Henderson, Prof. Dudley Woodard and Dean Gilbert H. Jones are mentioned. The trustees will make the selection Thursday.

The annual prize speaking contest of the commencement exercises of Wilberforce University was largely attended last evening in the auditorium of Galloway Hall. The gathering was presided over by President W. S. Scarborough and the University Glee club, under the direction of Mr. Geo. T. Simpson, with Miss Ida Frances Horton at the pipe organ, furnished music.

Before the exercises started President Scarborough announced the judges consisting of Prof. J. D. Lowery, of San Antonio, Texas, Miss Georgiana White of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. L. J. Coppin, of Philadelphia, Pa. The prizes will be awarded on one-third for delivery, one-third for subject matter and one-third for rhetoric. The winners of the several prizes will be announced Thursday morning.

The prize for women is five dollars and the contestants were Miss Doris Wells of Kansas City, Mo., who discussed the subject "The Negro and the War," Miss Alzada Singleton of Louisville, Ky., read a paper on "The Sphere of Woman" and Miss Grace Newby of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, read a paper on "The Place of Industrial Education in Elementary Education."

The Rust prize for men six dollars was contested by Mr. Isaac Steady of Gold Coast, Africa who delivered an address on "The Negro and the New Democracy," and Mr. Louis Holley of Brooklyn, N. Y., who read a paper on "The New Man for the New Democracy."

At the conclusion of the program Miss Hallie Q. Brown spoke of the excellent paper written by Miss Willie Mae King who won the second prize for the best paper on temperance and whose article, although second prize was distributed over the state by the temperance State Temperance organization. Miss Brown also introduced Madame G. Hodges, recently from New Zealand and who in former years was connected with a company of Jubilee singers and traveled in the interest of the university. Miss Hodges rendered several selections.

FUNERAL OF THOMAS H. JACKSON IS HELD IN GALLOWAY HALL

The funeral of Mr. Thomas H. Jackson, Jr., of Wilberforce, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the auditorium of Galloway Hall. Owing to the official relationship to the Trustee board, Bishop C. T. Shafer adjourned the meeting until after the funeral. The deceased was a member of the Senior class of the Academic Department and the faculty and students of this department attended in a body.

Dean Geo. F. Woodson of Payne Theological Seminary, officiated, assisted by Bishops B. F. Lee, L. J. Coppin, Dr. Geo. Henderson, Rev. P. S. Hill. Six of his classmates, Sidney Richards, Harry Luebbers, Fred Woodson, Ismay Robinson, Martin Delaney and Curtis Garvin served as pallbearers. Floral offerings were made by the Boy Scouts, the academic department and faculty and students of Payne Theological seminary. Resolutions were read from the Boy Scouts, the Alpha Phi Society, the Neighborhood club and senior class of the academy.

The interment took place at Tarbox cemetery.

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR FAIRFIELD RESULTS FATALLY

Mrs. Emmett J. Schurr of London, died Tuesday afternoon at the city hospital, Springfield, of a fractured skull, received Sunday afternoon near Fairfield, when the machine in which she was riding with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Milholland and son, was struck by an eastbound Ohio electric car. The rest of the party escaped injury.

Mrs. Schurr was first taken to the base hospital at Wright field, and later to the Springfield hospital where she died without regaining consciousness.

The party was enroute home after motoring to Wright field. The engine stalled when the automobile was on the interurban tracks, and all the occupants except Mrs. Schurr leaped from the car in time to escape being struck.

The body was taken to London Tuesday night. Mrs. Schurr leaves her husband and a sister, Miss Ida March of London.

THE WOMAN WHO CHANGED

By JANE PHELPS.

The Chistening CHAPTER CXVIII

Little Helen was to be christened. was more excited than was Evelyn. I had insisted upon giving her the christening robe and cape. What an exciting time I had in buying it. I am sure I wore out the patience of more than one shop girl before I found one to suit me. Evelyn went into ecstasies over it; and really it was lovely.

George was out of town the day the baby was christened. I was so sorry because to my surprise he had consented to go to the christening. But nothing could dampen my excitement. It was almost like having a baby of my own I told Evelyn. To have one named after me, to be god-mother.

The baby behaved beautifully. she never made a sound; just squirmed a little and puckered up her nose in funny little wrinkles when the clergyman put the water on her little head. I almost laughed to see how cute she looked making a face at the clergyman.

We had refreshments afterward. Just the families and me. Mrs. Reeves, Kurtz's mother, was lovely. She seemed to forget all her coldness, and just mothered Evelyn and the baby as if she were Evelyn's own mother.

I said something of the sort to Evelyn when we were alone and she replied:

"I am sorry I ever said the things about her I did. Yet I always tried to do nothing to displease her. But I didn't know her. I guess I didn't try to know her. She is simply wonderful, and so lovely to me. It was only that I wasn't used to her dignified ways so different from the women in the little town I came from."

"I guess that's the way with a lot of people, we don't try to know them," I said slowly, thinking that perhaps I didn't know George even yet.

A Good Influence.

Talking with Evelyn about her mother-in-law had been a good thing for me. I mean it helped me. I thought how stiff and formal I had thought her, how unapproachable. Here she was acting just like any other mother, yet always the delicately refined woman; the dignified society woman, but the mother; the woman with a heart as well. Perhaps in a sort of man-fashion George was something like her. I had not found my way down where he lived. I only judged him by the outside. As I complained he judged me. What a tangle life was. No matter how hard we tried, there seemed always misunderstanding and heartaches.

Pon his return George seemed pleased to hear all about the christening. When confessed that I had been horribly extravagant in buying the robe he smiled and said:

"I guess I can stand the strain," he was always like that about money matters. He indulged me in anything I wanted to do. Now as I look back across the years I realize that I was not at all extravagant. That my ideas of extravagance were the ideas of the small town girl whose parents were in moderate circumstances. That had I spent far more than I did it would not have been at all out of place because George expected me to send enough money to keep up his social position in every way. But often I apologized for my bills, altho he had never criticized them.

A Gay Winter.
We were very gay at this time. But I scarcely let a day pass that I did not see my little namesake. My afternoons were all occupied. Dress-makers, receptions, dinners, balls, kept me too busy to think. Then there was my music, that I would not neglect. It was the one thing in which I absolutely pleased George. He never had done anything but praise me, and was, I knew, proud of my talent. Had I not loved music as I did, I still should have kept up my practice for his sake; for the happiness I had because I could interest and please him.

Sometimes when we were going out to dinner he would come home early and before we dressed we would go into the music room and without any light. I would play for him an hour. He said it rested him more than anything else to sit in the dark and listen to my music.

At all the affairs we attended Julia Collins and Madge Loring were always in evidence. Julia grew more daring in her remarks to George, took less pains to dissemble before me. He seemed absolutely oblivious that she was doing anything at all out of the way; anything to which I could object.

After a particularly obnoxious remark I said to him:

"I wonder what Mrs. Collins would think if her husband were alive and I said a thing to her?"

"What has her husband being alive got to do with it?"

"Nothing much! Only it seems rather more—we'll say impolite to insult a wife when her husband is with her."

"Nonsense! You are always imagining things Julia didn't mean a thing. She knows me so well she thinks she can say what she pleases."

"But she doesn't know me so well, and the remark was to me."

"For heaven's sake, Helen do stop your fault-finding. It is most disagreeable habit," George exclaimed impatiently, then went directly to Mrs. Collins and commenced to chat and laugh with her.

Bats Once Used for Food.

That bats were food for primitive men is indicated by Miss Gruell in her work on bats of California: "The bat had become master of the air long before man walked upright. The rocky refuge revealed to the cave man the little upside-down bat clinging to the roof of his cavern. One bat takes its food off the ground, since it brings to its roost wingless Jerusalem crickets, either attracted by the noise the insect makes in crawling or the air currents made by such movements."

HEALING RELIEF FOR TORTURING ECZEMA

Sayre & Hemphill has sold hundreds of jars of Hokara and although they offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar has been returned.

While this is surprising in itself, yet the most marvelous thing is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scales, scabs and even bleeding itching have found relief in Hokara.

No matter where the eczema, pimples or other breaking out occurs, whether on the face, hands, legs or body, the application of Hokara should give quick relief, and even the worst or most chronic cases should be cured in a short time.

You can buy a liberal-sized jar today at the very low price of 35c and with every package goes Sayre & Hemphill's guarantee to refund the money if it is not satisfactory.

Everyday Etiquette

"Where should a man walk when he is acting as an escort to two ladies to the theater?" asked George.

"A man takes the outside of the walk. In escorting two ladies to the theater he seats them together and sits nearest the end himself. Of course, this may be modified according to circumstances and he may sit between the ladies, but by taking the outside seat he prevents either of them from being inconvenienced by the occupant of the adjoining seat," said his father.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

THE POSTAL ZONE SYSTEM LAW UPHOLD.

The owners of the large monthly literary publications, such as the Ladies' Home Journal, the Saturday Evening Post, the Woman's Home Companion and the monthly magazine have been sending them by the half dozen car loads to the far west and to the Pacific coast, at the regular postal rates.

This expense to the postoffice department took such a large disproportion or we might say small proportion of what should be the fair share of these publications, and was manifestly so postally unfair towards the daily and weekly newspapers of the country, that Congress passed a law fixing postage rates on the zone scale—or in other words making publications that required "long hauls" to reach subscribers pay a fair and equitable price for the postal services required.

This was right, and gave only a "square deal" to the thousands of newspapers that the P. O. department do not have to carry from their own home counties, and scarcely ever more than fifty miles.

But forthwith these big monthlies commenced bellowing like a bull that the new zone was "a tax on intelligence," and kept it up to the last, begging their subscribers to pester their Congressmen for the repeal of the zone system law on second-class mail matter, and flooded Congress with the worst lobby ever seen there, to influence members for the repeal. The law goes into effect July 1st.

But, alas, the poor fellows (they only get $5,000 a page for their advertising), lost their fight. The House of Congress, whose members had "heard from home," are unanimous in their opposition to repealing the law, and at a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee, on Friday last, the members voted unanimously with a single exception that the law must go into effect. Senator Smoot, of Utah, was the only member who voted to sustain the law, and he living "away out there," felt that his constituents might expect him to oppose the law.

The advantages of one class of men are not the measure of the rights of another.

YOUNG GIRL CRIES IN VAIN FOR HER BROTHER IN FRANCE

Crying for the brother who has sailed for France, and trying to shield him from Germans she imagines have attacked him, 15 year old Vatica Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, of the Alpha road, is lying at her home in a condition of nervous collapse from which her physician believes she will not recover. Except when under the influence of drugs, the young girl screams and cries for the brother, passing from one nervous convulsion to the other.

Ever since her brother, Clayton Shaw, has been in the army Vatica, who was of a nervous temperament, has grieved for him. She would sit about the house in a melancholy manner, thinking of the brother, and the family was unable to get the matter from her mind. Tuesday a letter was received saying that Clayton had sailed. Vatica became very excited, and worried, but she was apparently as well as usual when she retired. At midnight her screams for her brother awakened the household, and she has been in a critical condition ever since.

Well Within Bounds.
For noncommittal brevity of speech, says Puck, commend us, if you please, to the Yankee lord of the soil. One such, who was recently making a visit to the city, was knocked down in the street by an automobile. A sympathizing crowd instantly surrounded him, with condolences and questions. "Are you hurt, my friend?" kindly asked a gentleman who was first among the rescuers, as he helped the sufferer to his feet and brushed the mud and dust from his clothes. "Well," came the cautious reply, "it ain't done me no good."

WAR DEPARTMENT WILL NOT OPPOSE CHANGE IN DRAFT AGE

Washington, June 19.—Should Congress decide that it is necessary at this time to extend the draft age limits either below or above 20, or both, no opposition will be offered the war department.

UNCLE SAM THE WORLD'S BANKER.

The United States flag covers today a country not different in many respects from that of four years ago, but so intensified in its power as to be a new creation out of the substance of former days. In visible virtue and strength, we have been multiplied by ten in these three or four years. The economic expression can be seen by everybody. We used to be a million dollar country; now we are a billion dollar country.

We handle these great loans of the government in a common place way, as if we had always been doing it, but underneath it all we feel the marvel of the change from the measurement of the civil war days to that of the present time. Hardly had our people dreamed of such great performances by the older countries until now we are surpassing the greatest of them in our use of capital for war purposes.

For many years, indeed during its whole life up to the opening of the war, the United States had depended on the older countries for a large share of the capital with which to do business. In ordinary big business ventures Europe was always a participant, and in all great emergencies we fell back on the financial storerooms of Great Britain and other European nations. Now they come to us.

And wonderful to think of it, the aggregate of help we are giving them within this short period of four years, is greater than the total capital investment of those countries in the United States. No wonder that this fact astonishes the world. Yet the use of our resources is so small, compared with the aggregate, that we little feel the change. And we are convinced that later on will come still greater demonstrations of our financial ability.

The needs of the government have worked good for the people, for largely the money that has been exchanged for bonds has come out of the idle hoards. And then whatever the government gets is immediately redistributed among the people, being put to work as it were, and thus becomes a part of the capital that is doing the work of the nation.

For the present critical period it is highly important that idle funds be brought into active use. It is not desirable that the banks shall carry the bulk of the government debt. They should be left strong all the time. It would be unfortunate to have them tied up with large quantities of the long-term issues. It is the people that should take these bonds. And we might add, the aggregate of the people's resources is the seventh wonder of the day.

Reckon "Miles" by Time.

Trained woodsmen seem to develop an instinct of direction that has little to do with the points of the compass, writes Alfred Britt in Outing. Things are not north or south, they are right or left, near or beyond, whatever phrase expresses the necessary sense of relationship of objects to other objects. So when a woodsman says "north" he is not deceived; he may mean anywhere in the northern half of the compass. "Be not deceived either by a woodsman's judgment of distance. He will talk in terms of miles and fractions of miles if that be necessary to please his tenderfoot companions. What really interests him is time, days and fractions of days. If he knows that with luck he can reach the western end of Brule Lake before dark, what does it matter whether the distance is nine miles or ninety?"

HOW IT FEELS TO BE TORPEDOED

Rev. James H. Grier Writes of His Experience With Father Neptune and The Hun.

Few scenes are more beautiful than the ocean when it is still, silent, lighted by the brightness of the full moon. Add to the picture a convoy of ships, moving forward slowly, keeping pace with the slowest ship of the company. It is past midnight, there are no lights to be seen on any boat; all port holes are covered. The convoy is making way from the new world to the old. Most of its vessels are peaceful merchantmen, some are men-of-war. Save for the numerous watchmen on each ship, all are asleep. The picture is one of peace.

The ship bells have sounded the hour of midnight. An hour more passes; it is 1 o'clock. It is the beginning of the Sabbath. Four hours before in the drawing room of the largest boat, the little group of passengers had gathered, with a few officers, for prayer. They had raised their voices in the old, familiar hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and someone had asked God for guidance through another night, as each bowed in prayer. A communion service was announced for 7:30 o'clock the following morning, and the company dispersed to their state-rooms, committing their ways to Him who slumbers not nor sleeps.

Something happens in the stillness. We are thrown from our cots and find ourselves half awake on the floor. We realize in a moment the truth—we have been torpedoes! The alarm bell is ringing! Men are running to and fro in the halls shouting! The lights go out! The engines for the first time on a long journey are still! Someone shouts, "Close the bulkheads!" For those of us whose state-rooms were behind the bulkheads, comes a sudden vision of being caught like rats in a trap. We hurriedly grab in the dark for clothing we can lay hands on and flee to the life-boat deck.

I think five minutes had not elapsed when our life-boat, No. 7, was filled and we began the descent to the water. The great ship was still moving forward with a rapidly decreasing momentum. Two dangers seem to accompany those on a torpedoed vessel; one, that of failing to reach the boat-deck in time, the other, the danger in lowering the life-boat from the moving vessel, the rolling waves, the loose hanging tackleings. Our life-boat was lowered evenly. We found the water and without alarm assumed the speed of the sinking liner. Our seamen came sliding down the ropes. The boat was full. We tried to free ourselves from the tackleings and could not, the tackleings were cut, we pushed away from the sinking ship, and we breathed more freely.

Two last visions came to me in a moment; 1, that of a small boat half lowered, one end in the water, the other refusing to descend; the other was that of a seaman who came sliding down our tackleings after the rope was cut, and fell into the water. The life-boat was righted and the sailor picked up.

Freed from the sinking ship, floating about aimlessly on the water, I found time to dress, to pull on my shoes, and look for an overcoat. A sailor was all but naked; I gave him my coat. Overcoats were never meant to fit over a life-preserver. Moreover, pajamas are a poor garment to furnish the sole protection from the chill of an early April morning.

NEWLYWEDS MUST ALL GO INTO CLASS 1

Orders to immediately reclassify and place in Class 1, all men married since May 18, 1917, were received by the Greene County Local Board Tuesday afternoon, from the Provost Marshal General.

Approximately ninety men in this county are affected by this ruling. Married men who showed that they had dependent wives or children were placed in Class 4 by the Greene County Board, and the new ruling will make available a large number to replenish the depleted Class 1. After being taken out of Class 4, and placed in Class 1, a registrant thus reclassified may make a claim for deferred classification to the Local Board, upon such ground. Upon investigation the board may place him in Class 2, but in no other deferred class.

The Local Board also received notice Tuesday morning that the class registered June 5th be made available for call at the earliest possible moment. The Local Board now has 208 men registered, five being received by mail from other counties where they registered. The list was closed June 18, and sent to Washington. Order numbers it is expected will be assigned to this class at once, and the work of classification will proceed immediately here as soon as the order numbers are received.

Mrs. John Daly returned home Tuesday night after a visit in Memphis, Tennessee. Mrs. Daly was a passenger on the Louisville & Nashville train which struck an automobile at a crossing near Bardonia, Kentucky, Tuesday, killing five people. Mrs. Emma Skelton and her four children, of Shepherdsville, Kentucky, were the victims of the accident. Because of the accident, Mrs. Daly was three hours late arriving at her home here.

The funeral of little Dorothy Alexander, daughter of Mrs. Hugh Alexander, of Yellow Springs, who died in St. Louis, will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday at the home, and will be private. Interment at Clifton.

IF THIS WAR-SICK BRUTE FORCE EVER TURNS ON ITS DRIVER, GOOD-NIGHT HOHENZOLLERNISM!

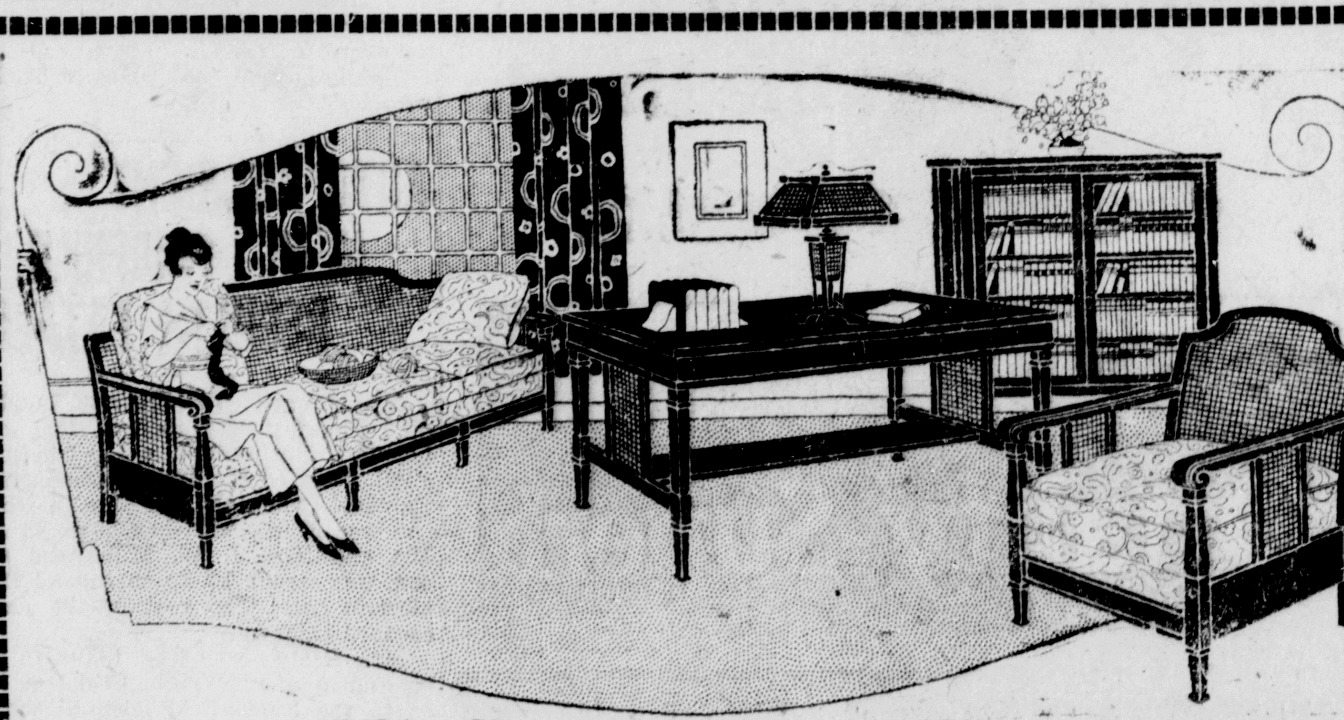

gan to thing of barres ves and wither we might go. A British torpedo boat came directly to us; we drew up alongside, climbed over several empty life-boats which had been picked up before, and very gladly got on board. We had been floating in the small boat about three-quarters of an hour. There were 260 of us all told, and we found standing room on the deck. Torpedo boats are not built for comfort; we were not invited to the cabin, in case there is a cabin. We were glad for the standing room. (Cut out by censor.) And the Pilgrim Fathers were scarcely more glad to find Plymouth Rock than we were to set foot on "old Blighty." We had been organized into military squads on ship board, and on dock we were again drawn up by corporal's guards and the roll was called. There were fifty-nine Y. M. C. A. secretaries on board, and every man answered to his name at roll call. The bystanders cheered, and as many of the men as refrained from tears, sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

We were told to stand in line! A British general was coming to greet us. We stood at attention while Field Marshal French passed, and said, "Hard luck, boys; but we are glad you have come over to help us."

We shall never forget two incidents of this experience. First, the perfect calm of our men in time of danger. There was no rushing, pushing, jostling. Men saw to it that their bunks were awake and on deck. And although only thirteen minutes had elapsed from the time we were struck until our good ship had disappeared every man found his place and did his duty. And so, also, I say of the British officers and sailors, there was no unnecessary alarm.

And, secondly, this: the exceedingly great kindness of these British people. No more could have been done for us by them than they did. A few moments after our arrival, the women of the Red Cross were pouring us tea. They also provided clothes for many of the sailors. An old lady saw one of our boys passing her home, his head bare. When she learned that he was one of the unfortunates, she got him a soldier's cap. "It belonged to my boy," she said; "you know he was killed in France." Two of us fell into a Baptist church. About fifty people were present, only one young man among them. He came to us and said, "I am here because I am rejected from the army." A Royal Mail coach passed. Perched away up on the high seat, cutting away up on the high seat, was a young girl. There is only one thing that England is doing today—she is fighting. The war cry is heard in the streets, in the homes, in the great cities, the villages, the rural districts. A sign on a vacant lot reads, "A building will be erected here after the war." No, England is organized for war to the limit, the great war for the righteousness of a planet. And she is not complaining of the work before her and she is not it to stick until the great task is done.

FAIRFIELD BOY LISTED AMONG THE WOUNDED

The war was brought home to Greene contains in a forceful manner Wednesday when the casualty list of Marines bore the name of "David E. Thomas, Fairfield, Ohio," among those severely wounded in France.

While there is no family of the name of Thomas in Fairfield, there is a David E. Toms of that place who is a member of the marine and who, when last heard from, was fighting in the trenches. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Toms of Fairfield but his parents have received no official word from the government that he was wounded, and the last letter they received from him about a week ago did not state that he was wounded. It is thought however that the marine named is the same, and that there was merely a confusion in the names in making up the casualty list.

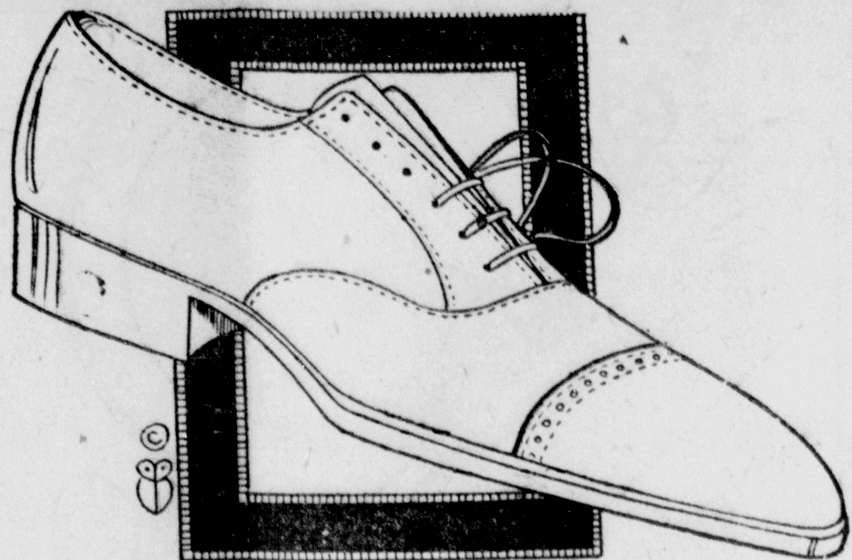

Young Toms is but 22 years of age. He enlisted in the Marines about two years ago and has been in France for six months. Word from him stated also that he had been in the trenches and it is very probable that he is the man named in the casualty list. The only thing that would give discrepancy to this is the fact that no official word has been received by the family of the boy.

Silver Stopped Teeth.

An entirely new method of treating decayed teeth is described by an English doctor. This, which is the result of many experiments in the research laboratory, consists in injecting into the tooth a solution of nitrate of silver in water and ammonia, and following this with an injection of a 25 per cent solution of formalin in water. The effect of these injections is to impregnate all the diseased tissue with metallic silver in a very finely divided state. The silver perfectly sterilizes whatever it penetrates, and it does not affect the healthy, live part of the tooth at all. When injected into the root canal it sterilizes this, disintegrates whatever may be left of the pulp, and if it goes out through the apex of the tooth, makes the tissues so sterile that there is no danger of the formation of an abscess.

THE HYMN SUPERB.

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL.

When Tony plays the Marseillaise,
His organ handle turning,
My pulses pound, my spirits bound,
My righteous wrath is burning!

While Tony turns the crank that earns
His daily vermicelli
I want to fight for God and Right,
For France, the valley lilly!

I want to stand in No Man's Land.
Let come what Fate determines;
Ah, when he plays the Marseillaise
I long to slaughter Germans!

No wonder then the fighting men
Of France will never falter;
To such an air, who would not dare
To die on Freedom's altar?

Dr. Warren C. Hoover, professor of Medicine of the Western Reserve University School of Medicine, who recently returned from France, where he had six months' service on the west front with the Lakeside Hospital Unit, addressed over 100 physicians of Southwestern Ohio at the Business Men's club, Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Dr. Hoover's talk on "The Fundamentals of Physical Diagnosis" was chiefly technical, but at the evening meeting he touched very interestingly on the poison gasses used by the Germans in their warfare on the west front.

He talked chiefly about phosphene, a deadly gas which affects the mucous membrane, and while the patient shows little outside signs of poison, soon bleeds to death inwardly by the action upon the inner membrane of the lungs. Dr. Hoover gave some personal experiences in dealing with this gas, and others which were launched by the foe while he was on the front.

At six o'clock the doctors were served dinner in the dining rooms of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, the women of the church preparing and serving the meal.

The meetings were held at 4 and 7 o'clock. Besides the physicians, several nurses were in the audience.

Dr. Hoover remained over here until 11 o'clock, Wednesday morning, when he went to London.

Doctors from Clark, Montgomery,

Madison, Warren, Ross and Greene were in attendance.

They registered as follows:

EVERY LITTLE PAIN THAT COMES FROM THE STOMACH IS A WIRE-LESS THAT IT NEEDS HELP.

EVERY LITTLE PAIN MEANS THAT YOU ARE OVERDOING THE STOM-ACH. IF FOOD SOURS; IF YOU BLOAT AND HAVE SICK HEADACHE, IT MEANS THE SAME.

Thousands upon thousands of persons are taking Pepsinco every day, because it is the only remedy that really does help the stomach. It is the only thing that will permit them to eat a meal without misery and pain.

Pepsinco acts quickly and is safe and sure. It digests perfectly all that is eaten. The stomach is a peculiar organ. It will not allow an overdoing. It cries out when it is worked too hard. It sends a wireless message for help and it be-hooves every one to watch for the sign.

Take Pepsinco if you have any of the symptoms of poor digestion—sourness, heartburn, sick headache, bloating, fullness. Get a package at the drug store and have them ready when you finish your meal. Do this and save your stomach.

Pepsinco, the marvel-ous remedy for sour stomach and stomach ailments can be had free of charge. Send to-day and get a package.

Mr. H. says:—I have been a sufferer from indigestion for some time. Used many remedies, tried several doctors with no relief. Com-menced using Pepsinco about one year ago and have had only one or two slight at-tacks since.

A free trial package will be sent to you. Send today. The Neuro Pharmacal Company, Wa-pakoneta, Ohio

Eddie Rickenbacher.

It is reported now that Lieut. Eddie Rickenbacher of the American aviation force has downed his fifth German airplane, thereby qualifying him for the title of "Ace." Rickenbacher finds more fun in downing a Hun flier or dropping a bomb on a nest of Germans than he did in flashing under the wire in the lead in auto races. The above picture, just arrived from the front, shows him with an airplane bomb.

EAST END NEWS

Rev. T. D. Scott, D.D., pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, Detroit, Mich., is visiting Dr. C. A. Lindsay and family, of which Dr. Scott is pastor, is doing as much if not more than any church in the north, to see that the feet of our people are guided aright. They keep a paid messenger, a devout, young, Christian lady, who meets all trains coming into Detroit. She sees to it that all negroes are made comfortable and placed in the proper environments. The church provides a rest room for them in which is paper and pencil and stamps furnished the new comers to correspond with their family and friends. All this is free and so graciously given that nearly everyone becomes an admirer of Bethel even though it not be the church of their choice.

Dr. R. R. Wright, the noted scholar and sociologist, spoke at St. John's A. M. E. church on the subject "Things that our children learn at school." The audience was small but appreciative. Every Xenian that believes in justice and fair play would have done well to have heard him. Dr. Wright is doing much to create public favor for his race by calling attention to many things which are operating against us. Two authors of histories in which appear unfavorable comments concerning the negro race, have acknowledged the injustice they do the race and have requested that Dr. Wright write this part of the history which is now being revised.

Bands Nos. 4 and 7 of St. John's A. M. E. church are conducting an interesting contest as to "who is the more popular the pastor or his wife." Mrs. Jennie Thomas and Mrs. Viola Rickman are the respective leaders of these bands. The women of the two bands will be organized under Mrs. Ophelia C. Rogers and will work for Mrs. Nichols. The men will be under the direction of W. S. Rogers and will work for Rev. Nichols. The votes will be a penny a piece and will be on sale at Holmes' grocery. Clark and Leach's grocery and Mrs. Marchant's restaurant. The contest will close and prizes will be awarded Dr. Nichols or his wife, at the Apron Bazaar at St. John's church, July 5th. Everybody is requested to buy a few votes for the pastor or his wife and cast them in the ballot box at Mrs. Marchant's restaurant.

Ladies' Afternoon club will meet with Mrs. Bronell, Friday afternoon. Mr. Lawrence St. James, of Sparta, Ill., is visiting his cousins, Mrs. Nellie George, of East Third street, and Mrs. Hattie Williams.

Mrs. Thelma Davis, of Latonia, Ky., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Hattie Williams.

Rev. Dr. Diggs, a white clergyman of Massachusetts, has been elected president of Howard University to succeed Rev. Newman.

Lester Roberts is reported to be quite sick.

Prof. B. F. Lee, Jr., left last night for Harper's Ferry, Virginia, where he will meet Rev. J. E. Mooreland, D. D., who will assign him to his Y. M. C. A. War Work in which he has recently entered. His family will remain in Xenia permanently.

Rev. I. N. Patterson, Jr., pastor of the A. M. E. church in Charleston, W. Va., is home for a short vacation and to attend the commencement at Wil-berforce He holds a high place as a churchman in that state and is filling the largest A. M. E. appointment in the State.

years. He was born in Brunswick county, Virginia, and was 74 years old last September. He came to Xenia with his parents when a child about 9 or 10 years old and has resided here most of his life. He was a painter and paper-hanger by trade and fol-lowed that employment for many years in this and other cities. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Troy in Xenia on September 28, 1871, and six children blessed their union, two of whom died in infancy. His widow, three daughters and one son survive him. Funeral will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence.

Funeral services for Charles Buckner, colored man who died from burns received in Dayton several days ago, will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Baptist Church in Cedarville. Rev. Mason will have charge.

MERLE ROSS PASSES NAVAL ACADEMY EXAMS

Merle Ross, popular local young man and a son of Mrs. F. O. Ross of North Galloway street, has passed the final test for entrance in the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and entered that school Wednesday.

Mrs. Ross received a telegram announcing this fact Tuesday evening from her son, who left here last Friday to take the final examination. Mr. Ross passed the examination at Yellow Springs last year and later passed a mental examination in Dayton. His appointment is the regular congressional appointment by S. D. Fess, of this district.

Mr. Ross is a graduate of Central High School, class of 1917, and has just completed his Freshman year at Antioch.

SPRINGFIELD MAN TO MAKE ADDRESS AT O. S. AND S. O. HOME

The Rev. E. S. Weaver, of Spring-field, will deliver the class address at the annual commencement of the O. S. and S. O. Home schools, which will be held in the chapel at the institution Thursday evening at 7:30.

There will be six graduates from the High School, each of whom will give an oration. Judge Frank M. Allen, of Washington C. H., president of the Board of Trustees of the Home, will present the diplomas. Besides the High School graduates, five will graduate in telegraphy, four in domestic science, and art, and seven in stenography. The High School class is one of the smallest in years to graduate from the institution, due to the fact that a number of older pupils attending the schools were discharged last year.

Foreign Grapes in Ireland. A short time ago a much-traveled sea captain was in Ireland and was attracted by some grapes which he was certain were similar to those he had known in California as "Mission" grapes, so called because they were introduced into that country by Spanish missionaries. Being interested in the subject, he pursued his inquiries and found that his surmise was correct. The grapes were grown from cuttings of vines which formed part of the cargo of the Spanish Armada, hence their similarity to those of California, both being of Spanish origin. This beautiful fruit flourishes in a sheltered valley on the western side of Lough Swilly, where no frost has nipped the vines for five years, although frequently snow is visible on the distant hills.

AVIATOR GOES TO RELIEF OF COMRADE

On a "first aid to the injured" trip, Lieutenant Clarke, accompanied by Mechanician Wilson from Wright Aviation field, landed in the Kelly corn field east of North Detroit street, Tuesday afternoon and inquired the way to Jamestown.

The aviators were bringing relief to Lieutenant Steele who was forced to alight in a corn field on the Archie Gordon farm near Jamestown about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. The plane was forced down by engine trouble and when the machine struck the corn stalks the linen of the wings was torn so that the pilot had to call for aid from the Wright field.

Attempting to return to the aviation field, Lieutenant Steele was again forced to alight on the Dan Stewart farm northwest of town because of engine trouble. Unable to get assistance he had to remain with the machine all night, returning to Wright field Wednesday morning.

In order to get his bearings Lieutenant Clarke, bearing a mechanic and means of repairing the disabled plane landed in the Kelly field about three o'clock Tuesday afternoon and a large crowd gathered about the plane in a few moments. After inquiring the way to Jamestown Lieut. Clarke continued on his course. After he had lifted from the field, it was necessary for the pilot to bank and turn to continue in the right direction and as he came back over the field he turned the nose of the ship toward the ground as if to light, causing a scattering of watchers. As it appeared he was about to strike the ground the plane lifted easily and continued on its way to Jamestown.

THRESHERMEN ARE TO MEET IN XENIA

A notice has been sent to all threshermen in Greene county by Fred C. Croxton, State Food Administrator to meet at the county auditors office in Xenia on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of organizing with a view to conserve the usual waste occurring in harvesting and threshing operations.

There are over fifty men in the county engaged in running threshing outfits and it is hoped that every one will be present at the meeting.

Remember the time, Saturday, June 22 at 2 o'clock in the County Auditor's office.

VIOLIN RECITAL IS RARE TREAT

A program of artistic excellence was given by Mr. Charles Holstein, violinist, and Mrs. Funkhauser, accompanist at McKinley auditorium, Tuesday afternoon.

These are two of Dayton's most talented musicians, and they delighted a small but appreciative audience with their high order of entertainment.

No remuneration was received by Mr. Holstein and Mrs. Funkhauser. The entire proceeds was given to the fund for the relief of the Armenian children.

SUGAR FOR CANNING

While it is very important that consumers should lay in their supply of sugar for canning needs so that none of the fruits may go to waste should a sugar shortage occur later, it is essential that no customer purchase more sugar than will be actually needed. Few home canners will require more than 50 to 75 pounds.

Many housewives are at a loss in estimating their needs. It is not the purpose of the Food Administration to limit the actual needs for canning, but in order to prevent over supplying, all dealers are directed to submit all certificates calling for more than 100 pounds to the County Food Administration Committee for approval before making the sale.

It has been suggested that the retailer should not sell all of the season's supply at one time. This suggestion was made for the protection of the trade that the unusual demand might not cause a temporary shortage. Sugar sales made on canning certificates may now be made as the retailer's stock warrants.

PURINA PIG CHOW ELIMINATES RUNTS

Quick Gains and Larger Hogs

PURINA PIG CHOW is made from cane molasses, ground corn, tankage (60% protein), alfalfa, salt and humus; scientifically proportioned to provide the proper balance for growth, for fattening and for regulation—the three big factors necessary in successful pig raising and hog fattening.

FOR FATTENING

When PURINA PIG CHOW is fed as a half ration with corn, middlings or other feeds, it produces from 25% to 40% more live hog than is obtained with the same pounds of other feeds. Numerous tests have proved that PURINA PIG CHOW will produce 100 pounds of live hog at a feed cost of from $3.00 to $6.00 less than other rations. PURINA PIG CHOW will shorten the fattening period 20 to 30 days. It provides the proper proteins and minerals lacking in corn, middlings, etc.

Try PURINA PIG CHOW—it will make money for you. A new shipment just received.
